

DECO DESIGNS ON FOOD TASTE

TEXT LOUISE M'CANN

DELI NICE Tokara wine estate in Stellenbosch has long been a must-visit for its excellent restaurant, wines and olives. Now a new deli on the premises, opened by mother and daughter duo Anne-Marie and Kara Ferreira, has raised the bar even further. The daytime eatery offers alfresco dining on sunny days and glass-enclosed, fireside feasting on cold, rainy days. Serve yourself from the buffet or order from a daily menu – then find a table with spectacular views across vineyards and olive groves, to Table Mountain in the distance. It's child-friendly: toys, books, colouring-in books and one of Porky Hefer's human-sized weavers' nests will keep the little ones entertained while you relax. Gourmet street culture is thriving at the upper end of Bree Street in Cape Town: Rotisserie 360 has opened across the road from Jardine. With summer in full swing, we especially love their picnics to go, which include roast chicken, salads, homemade mayo, French baguettes, chocolate brownies and utensils for about R70 per head. 160 Bree St, Cape Town. ☎ 084 314 1357; www.rotisserie360.co.za
